Names and relationship of family members who have preceded in death. _____

List present or past church affiliations, clubs or organizations that you would want listed in your obituary._____

Memorials - organizations which people can make donations toward in your name._____

Outline as much detail of the funeral service as you feel necessary. Avoid such terms as "usual" or "customary." Such terms can be meaningless. You might want to suggest such things as scripture, music, or other ceremonial details. If lodge, or other semi-secular services are to be considered, make a notation. _____

You might note here the "little" things which could make a big difference: (Clothing, hairdresser, glasses, pall bearers, flowers, or anything else)._____

If you are considering donating tissue or organs from your body for medical research, you should first discuss this thoroughly with your family, your doctor and your funeral director. Ordinarily, such wishes cannot be fulfilled unless preparations are made IN ADVANCE.. Donation does not usually interfere with the body being present for services. In any event, your comments on the funeral are still appropriate. _____
